WE publish elsewhere an interesting letter from Judge Clark in regard to the young girl who was recently pardoned from the chain gang. The statements of Judge Clark only confirm us in the opinion that there is something radically wrong either in the law or the charity that permits young white girls, however abandoned they may be, to be consigned to the chain gang there to consort with negroes and thieves. Charity may reform abandoned white girls, but the coolest charity would hardly suggest the chain gang as a reformatory institution.

FRANKS, a United States deputy marshal from North Carolina, who was arrested in Washington on Monday night, on a charge of defrauding the government, implicates Marshal R. M. Douglass in the general crookedness which is so sure to appertain to the revenue service in the south.

THE Danube has rarely risen so high at this season of the year, and experts estimate that it will be at least four weeks before the stream can be crossed.

IT appears that Grant and Pierrepont, (or rather the man who calls himself Pierrepont) were too busy feeding to attend Motley's funeral.

JACK WHARTON wants to get Pitkin out of the way. But Pitkin is by no means courteous.

THE English vessels are having some trouble with a piratical Peruvian ship.

GEO. FRANCIS TRAIN'S traveling agent has been arrested for using a forged pass on Tom Scott's road.

OSMAN PASHA is thinking about attacking Kalafat in force.

SPAIN is tampering with some more American vessels.

"My dear Pitkin" refuses to resign.

The Water Question.

Editors Constitution: The water question, which has for some time disturbed the quiet of the city, has, I am gratified to learn, at last been solved and forever put at rest. But, strange to say, this solution of the vexed question has not been the result, as we are informed, of an investigation of the subject by such tedious and expensive modes as an analysis of the water or other tests requiring time and money, nor by the at present popular made of solving doubtful problems—a "commission," but simply by resolution as passed at the last meeting of the city council.

In your report of the proceedings of that meeting I find the following:

"Alderman McMillan offered a resolution declaring the water in the city wells pure and unadulterated, which was passed."

We regret that your reporter did not give us the resolution entire, the discussion, vote &c, upon this neat, rapid and by no means expensive mode of solving vexed sanitary problems. But, perhaps, this is of no importance as the city council have, in language unmistakable declared the water of the wells of the city "pure and unadulterated." This should certainly be conclusive. No one, after the passage of this resolution, can doubt the purity of the water from the wells in the central portion of the city.

It is true, that some of the weak-minded may imagine that the taste and smell of the water in certain portions of the city is not such as should be expected from "pure and unadulterated water." It is evident, however, after this resolution of the city council, that the defect is not in the water, but in the taste and smelling organs of the benighted individuals.

While upon the sanitary condition of the city, the city council should have gone further, and, by resolution, quieted the fears of those who doubt the propriety, at least in a sanitary point of view, in using the garbage from the gutters with animal and vegetable matters collected from other points in making fills in the streets and sinks in the populous portions of the city, and in some instances filling and leveling sidewalks with the same material.

To quiet the fears of all such weak minded individuals I would suggest that they pass a resolution at the next meeting of the council to the effect that garbage from the gutters and filth from other localities when dumped in the streets for fills or into sinks, and covered with a few inches of earth, or left exposed to the hot rays of the summer's sun, does not, and will not affect unpleasantly the health of the city.

The passage of some such resolution would as effectually quiet the fears of the timid on the garbage question, as the "pure water" resolution has the timid on the water question, and as it would cost nothing, why hesitate?

TOWN TOPICS.

—There was a rehearsal of the "Flower Queen" at the opera house last night which was attended by all the children who will appear Thursday night. They are all excellently skilled in their parts and perform admirably. The entertainment should be largely attended.

—Nightly meetings are continued during the present week at the Hunter street church.

—Twenty-five children compose the chorus of Heathen Bell at the Flower Queen on the 7th. 85

—A splendid $85 sewing machine, the Singer, will be given by the Third Baptist Sunday school to the most popular young lady in the city. Let all young ladies needing a machine become candidates.

—The tableaux in which the poppies lull the other flowers to sleep on the 7th is most beautiful and picturesque. 85

—Be sure to go to the ice cream festival of the Third Baptist Sunday school to-night. Their object is worthy of your patronage, viz: to supply the school with books and papers. Place, No. 7 Kimball house.

—Do not fail to attend the festival at No. 7 Kimball house to-night. Admission free.

—The Flower Queen on the 7th will be long and pleasantly remembered by all who witness it. 85

A DEAD MAN FOUND.

A CONVICT WHO HAPPENS TO BE ALIVE AND KICKING.

He was Sent up for Burglary, Escaped from the Gang, was Reported "Dead," Gone for Nine Years and then Found.

Another remarkable instance of the certainty with which justice, leaden footed though she be, travels in the wake of the transgressor, was brought to light yesterday morning.

While the governor was in the midst of advice as to who he should make judge of this circuit, a telegram was handed to him. He read it and it said:

CHATTANOOGA, June 4, 1877.

To Governor A. H. Colquitt, Atlanta—We have Harry Wilborne. He escaped from Colonel Printup, six miles south of Rome, about nine years since. What reward for him? Please answer.

D. M DOTY,
City Marshal.

This recital at once suggested the near parallel to a recent case, where a criminal was brought back to this state from Missouri, after wandering as a fugitive from justice for over thirteen years. An investigation was made of the records of the office of the principal keeper of the penitentiary, and the following entry was found upon the register:

WHO WILBORNE IS:

"Harry Wilborne, burglary, six years, entered June 4, 1868 sentence expires June 4, 1874, from Bibb county, 21 years old, five feet five and a half inches high, fair complexion, auburn hair, blue eyes."

Opposite this entry under the head of remarks was this endorsement:

"Casualty unknown—died—date unknown."

It will be seen that he entered the penitentiary just nine years ago yesterday, and therefore his escape must have been made shortly after his reception into the penitentiary.

It will also be seen that he was reported to the principal keeper of the penitentiary as having "died," but after nine years his arrest in the flesh proves that somebody made a mistake in the report. The police of Chattanooga seemed to have found him remarkably alive and to have considered him valuable enough to entitle them to a reward for his capture.

A telegram was sent to the marshal of Chattanooga requesting that he be held for a requisition and a messenger will probably be sent for him to-day.

Since it is evident that he escaped very early after his incarceration, he will have nearly the entire six years to serve, with perhaps four years additional for effecting an escape. He had better stayed "dead."

The Burial of Judge Peeples.

The remains of Judge Peeples left Atlanta on Saturday afternoon. A telegram had been sent to Colonel A. D. Hammond notifying him that the remains would arrive at Forsyth on the 5 o'clock train, and the train was met at the depot by the members of the bar and a large crowd of citizens, nearly all of them friends and acquaintances of the deceased.

On Sunday morning the funeral sermon was preached in the Baptist church at Forsyth by Rev. D. W Gwin, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city. Dr. Gwin was an intimate friend of Judge Peeples and his discourse was as eloquent, and as earnest as affection and appreciation could make it. We have rarely heard an abler or more affecting sermon. It was based upon the following verse from Matthew xxv chap, xxi. v: "His Lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

A very large audience, composed mainly of those who had known Judge Peeples intimately and loved him well, attended the funeral ceremonies, and their presence was not a less feeling tribute to the worth and character of the distinguished dead than the sermon itself. The remains were then taken to the cemetery, where they were buried with Masonic honors.

The Friends of the Brutes.

This evening at the rooms of the Young Men's Library association, a meeting of the Atlanta branch of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals will take place. Miss Lou King and a party of interested friends from Augusta, will be present, and the occasion will be one of decided interest. The Atlanta branch is a progressive element in the charitable cause and already has done some admirable work. Let there be a full attendance.

To the Public.

I intended to notice the letter of Gov. Smith, addressed to Gov. Colquitt, and published in THE CONSTITUTION of the 30th ult.; but I have read General Garlington's reply to that paper, and it is so satisfactory to me that I do not think it necessary to add anything to it. I merely have to say that in his statement of facts, wherever my name is mentioned as authority, he is correct; and while I could add much that is confirmatory of his statement generally, I do not deem it either important or necessary to do so.

R. A. ALSTON.

City Court Notice.

Civil docket will be called and pressed in the following manner:

1. Where no defense filed on oath judgment may be taken at any time.
2. Cases where counsel's name is marked for defense, but no plea filed on oath may be called up by plaintiff's attorney and heard.
3. Cases not ready for trial in the order of call may be set for a few days ahead.
4. The trial calender will be disposed of in its order until finished.
5. Transferred cases from the Superior court will, if desired, have preference.
6. Cases postponed on leaves of absence will be disposed of peremptorily, on last call of docket, if not before.
7. Motions for new trials in civil or criminal cases will be heard as opportunity may offer.
8. Pleas of guilty in criminal cases can be made at any time.
9. Criminal business generally.

By order of Judge Clark,
JAMES D. COLLINS, Clerk.

A Gilt-Edge Vehicle.

Mr. Clint Taylor has received at his stable on Pryor street one of the finest carriages ever brought to this city. It is intended for wedding occasions and pleasure driving and is a marvel of fine carriage work. It is lined inside with quilted white satin, has ivory card-case, a mirror, a bell-stop to call the attention of the driver, round glass front and all the conveniences of the person riding that are needed. The running gear is of the finest make and the entire establishment superb in every feature. With the harness it cost $2,200.

City Court.

The city court met and adjourned yesterday in respect to the memory of Hon. Cincinnatus Peeples, judge of the superior court. No business was transacted. Court meets again this morning at 8½ o'clock, and will proceed with its regular business.

Mammoth Sale of Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, June 4, 1877.

To-day several thousand packages of dry goods were sold at merely nominal figures. Prints, bleached goods, dress goods, black grenadines, etc, were sold at little over half the cost of production and importation.

Another immense sale occurs to-morrow.

Appointed.

On the 1st instant Governor Colquitt appointed Dr. John Rhea, of this city, as notary public and ex-officio justice of the peace of the 1234th district G M., vice Garlington, resigned.

Dr. Rhea was strongly indorsed by our leading citizens. He is a man of fine moral character and intellectual powers, and will carefully and correctly discharge the duties of his position.

THREATENING THE TURKS

RAPID ADVANCES OF THE RUSSIAN FORCES IN ASIA MINOR.

Kars Surrounded and Cut off From all Outside Communication.

The Russians Within Six Hours March of Erzeroum.

A Graphic Review of the Situation in Both Armies.

A FIELD GLASS VIEW.

The Situation of the Armies in Asia and Europe—The Russian Plans Perfect for a Quick March to Constantinople—Kars Cut Off and Erzeroum Menaced—Stupidity of the Turkish Commanders.

LONDON, June 4.

On the Danube the Russians have at last occupied the chief positions, and their lines extend from Galatz to Kalafat, but the formidable river bars their way. Until the stream returns to its normal summer level, it will be perilous if not absolutely impossible to take the army across. It is now hardly possible that the Russians can execute the great military operations for the next three weeks. They may come to close quarters with the Turkish armies about the beginning of July, so that the campaign will probably be prosecuted under the greatest heats of summer. The region of the lower Danube is terribly unhealthy for strangers, so it may be presumed the Russians will endeavor to traverse with all celerity the more unhealthy districts. Those troops will fare worst which have to set down before a fortress or guard a strong place in their line of communications, as an army in movement will generally keep health better than garrison or investing forces.

The character and duration of the struggle in Bulgaria are the subject of much speculation, particularly in Germany and Austria, where every officer seems to have made his own particular study of the campaign. The general tenor of these criticisms is adverse to the Turks, not from any doubt that they will make a good fight, and even inflicts serious repulses on their enemy, but from the proposition that the superiority in numbers, effeciency of organization and strategical ability are on the side of the Russians.

There are 240 000 Russians in position on the Danube without counting the Roumanians or the Russians that are being brought forward who amount to 60 000 more; there are 80,000 men east of Ibrail and 20 000, with considerable reserves, at Bolgrad, which is the point of support for this part of the line. The strength and position of the works at Renia and Ibrail indicate that they are defensive and not offensive, the precautions taken being directed against an attack by the Turkish fleet and to prevent the passage of the river by the Turks. At Ibrail there are three batteries—one west of the the town, sweeping the Danube with four twelve-pounders and two guns of larger calibre, up to the point formed by the Matchin channel, and two east of the town, raking the Matchin channel, one of which is armed with four guns of position and four howitzers, and the other with eight pieces of still larger calibre and two mortars, and from which projectiles are said to have reached Matchin. The fourth battery of eight guns is on the island opposite Matchin from Ibrail.

Up to the lines of Bucharest and Oltenitza, and Bucharest and Guirgevo there are no troops except the number requisite to guard against a possible surprise, but between Bucharest and Guirgevo the concentration is on a large scale. The forces are in the camps, each containing thirty thousand men, to which must be added another 10,000 at Guergevo. Thus there are 100,000 men now concentrated on the Bucharest and Guergevo line along the railway, who may be directed either against the line of Rustchuck and Turtukoi, or Ruschuck and Sistova. On the spot it is believed the latter will be chosen and that the demonstration at Oltenitza is merely a feint.

The second concentration is on both sides of the river Aluta. East of the river there are ten thousand men in two camps both on the high road to Turnu Maguereli. West of the Aluta are four camps, representing about 80,000 men. This may be regarded as the centre of the line. Further west on the line of Kalafat and Turnueverin the last accounts stated the number of Russians to be forty thousand.

The Turkish army on the Asiatic side appears to have been deplorably neglected. The troops are worse disciplined, worse equipped and provided than those on the Danube but the nature of the warfare in Asia, to some degree, makes the deficiency of the army less vital.

The campaign will be one in which strategy will be of less aid and hard fighting of more importance. Even irregular troops may be able to do service in some portions which it is in the power of Mukhtar Pasha to defend.

The Russian right wing has advanced from Ardahan via Urut to Pennek, fifteen miles north of the borders. Of the centre we have no reliable information but it has been reported that they have taken both Delimussa and Getzchevan. According to another account these places are being attacked by detachments, while the main force is following the northern road over the Souganlu range. At all events the right and centre are well down toward positions from which attack could be made on Mukhtar Pasha, but the left wing has not yet advanced far enough to participate in a combined movement. This delay is to a great extent in consequence of the difficulties of the country through which the left wing is marching. All supplies have to be drawn from Erivan, which place the only easy road leads through Persian territory, the other routes being mountain passes.

If the battle which is to decide the fate of Erzeroum is not fought until the Erivan column has forced the Turkish positions at Toprak Kaleh, and is within supporting distance of the other columns, progress is likely to be as heretofore, very slow. It is not impossible, however, that the right and centre, with the aid of the force from Batoum operating on the Tchorukbol river, may attack Mukhtar Pasha from the direction of Olti and Souganlu, provided Mukhtar waits to be attacked.

The latest news of him via Constantinople represents that he was falling back from the Bardess and Erzeroum positions. It is to be remarked, however, that news from Constantinople, whether favorable or unfavorable to the Turks, is peculiarly untrustworthy. Thus we had last week the announcements that the Russians had occupied Van and Olti, both of which were false, and probably the result of a panic just as the reiterated story of the recapture of Ardahan was probably the result of the blundering design on the part of government to appease the populace of Constantinople. On the other hand the war news made public by the Russian government is generally of no importance whatever as it is several days behind time.

CLOSING ON ERZEROUM.

Steady Progress of the Russian Troops—Kars Cut Off—The Turkish Lines Falling Back—Souganlu Pass Occupied by the Russians—Toprak-Kaleh Being Abandoned

LONDON, June 4.—Reuter's dispatch from Lyra says the Turks lack good commanders. Redif Pasha, minister of war, and Mahmoud Damad Pasha, marshal of the palace, and brother-in-law of the sultan, represent the war party; Edhim and Safet Pasha, the grand vizier and minister of foreign affairs, represent the party which will be willing to agree to mediation after a decisive engagement has been fought.

TIFLIS, June 3.—The Russian General Komnitoff, commanding at Ardahan on the 30th of May, reconnoitered beyond Pennek and Olti. The Turkish cavalry under Moussa Pasha, have been defeated and dispersed near Bechrachof. The Russians captured two mountain guns, four ammunition wagons and two standards. The Russian loss was seven killed and thirty wounded. The Turks left eighty-three dead on the field.

ERZEROUM, June 4.—During the night of May 29th, the Russians defected and routed Moussa Pasha's Circassians at Bekli Ahmed, near Kars. Bekli Ahmed was burned. Kars is amply provisioned, but as a precautionary measure the garrison has been put on half rations.

The van guard of the Russian right wing has appeared before Olti. The Turks are retreating from Olti.

A detachment of the Russian centre has reached Souganlu.

Mukhtar Pasha's position at Sevin is thus rendered untenable as the Russians could turn his flank via. Getzcheva.

Kars is completely invested and telegraphic correspondence ceased two days ago.

A detachment from Van to reinforce Mukhtar Pasha is expected at Hassan Kalei. A detachment from the Russian centre is marching to intercept it. The weather is fine.

A Reuter's dispatch from Erzeroum says that it is confirmed that the scouts belonging to the Russian centre column patrol as far as the Souganlu mountains. The Turkish headquarters have fallen back on Hereprikoi. The vanguard of the Russian right wing has passed Olti and Kizil Kilisa.

A Reuter's Constantinople dispatch states that the arrival of the Russian forces at Souganlu and Kizil Kiliza brings two strong Russian columns within six hours march of Erzeroum. A later dispatch says that intelligence has been received that Mukhtar Pasha is falling back on Lain. The army is considered to be in a grave position.

It is stated that the Russians lost 3,000 in a recent attack on Kars. A correspondent of the Daily Telegraph gives the following:

ERZEROUM, June 3—I have to record the most terrible event of the present war. Two nights ago four thousand Circassian cavalry, commanded by Moussa Pasha, were ordered to proceed toward Kars entirely unsupported by infantry or artillery. They rested for the night at Bekli Ahmed. The Russians secretly organized a powerful force and during the night surrounded and surprised the village in which the Circassians had halted. Only about five per cent of the entire force of four thousand Circassians escaped the carnage which followed. Moussa Pasha is along with the missing. The Circassians fought desperately, and no quarter was taken.

CONSTANTINOPLE June 4.—It is officially announced that the reported recapture of Ardahan is erroneous.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 4.—The Turks claim to have driven the Russians from the neighborhood of Sukum Kaleh a 30 hours march in the direction of Mount Elbrung.

LONDON, June 4.—A dispatch to the Times from Danilograd, states that the bulk of the Turkish forces at Podgoritza, about fifteen battalions, advanced to Spuz, probably with the intention of attacking Sogana. Suleiman Pasha, the Turkish commander in Herzegovania, has received considerable reinforcements.

A hard fight is expected at Krustaz.

Four hundred and fifty insurgents and Montenegrins, attacked the village of Stozer on the 31st of May, and destroyed it. The Turkish loss was 118 regulars and 30 irregulars.

The prince of Montenegro has gone to the Duna Pass.

BUCHAREST, June 4.—The czar and czarwitch and Grand Duke Vladimar have arrived here. The reception by the public was respectful but not cordial.

BERLIN, June 4.—It is reported from Vienna that Russia's programme on the conclusion of peace, will be self-government for Bosnia, Herzegovina, Bulgaria, and the Christians of Lebanon.

A cable dispatch says it is now known that on demand of Austria Little Wallachia will be considered on neutral ground.

LONDON, June 4.—A Reuter's telegram from Constantinople says: Austria recently sent a note to the porte demanding a written declaration that the restrictions on the navigation of the Danube shall not last a day longer than the war or be increased or form a precedent. The porte and Russia have both sent the declaration required.

The chamber of deputies have voted in favor of the abolition of the press bureau and of making an inquiry into the extraordinary expenditures.

The Daily Telegraph's Bucharest dispatch says: Information received by this government leads to the belief that Osman Pasha intends attacking Kalafat in force.

LONDON, June 4.—The Daily News has a Bucharest dispatch saying the Danube is still impassible; rarely has water risen so high at this season, and this merely with rain and snow water from Bavaria, and the Carpathian mountains has still to come, and experts estimate that it will scarcely be possible to cross for four weeks.

LONDON, June 4.—The Daily Telegraph's story of the destruction of Moussa Pasha's Circassians is a gross exaggeration. The Russian official account says that the Circassians were dispersed, eighty-three being killed.

The following has been received at the admiralty from the commander in chief of the Pacific station, dated Iquique June 1st: The Peruvian rebel turret ship, Huascar committed piratical acts against British subjects. Her majesty's ships, Shah and Amethist, engaged her off Ialo on the 29th of May. She escaped after dark, but was so damaged as to surrender to the Peruvian squadron. There was no British casualities.

BRUSSELS, June 4.—The Nord, the Russian organ, publishes a letter from St. Petersburg, which says: If after crossing the Danube Russia is able to conclude a peace and at the same time realize her programme, and if the powers adopt toward Turkey an attitude sufficiently firm to complete the lesson received from the arms of Russia, then an equitable and dignified peace might be arranged, and the necessity of pursuing the war to extremes be avoided.

LONDON, June 4.—The Times reports that the Russian monitors had succeeded in forcing the Sulina mouth of the Danube is unconfirmed. There may, therefore, be some inaccuracy. It seems too much to suppose that the Turks left the Sulina mouth ungarded. It is different with the Kelia branch of the sea along the coast, it being very shallow. Some of the flat bottomed Russian monitors, which are supposed to be ready at Nacolaieff, may have made their way down and succeeded in passing over the bar.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 4.—Intelligence received here that Mukhtar Pasha has established his head quarters at Henprikay, about twenty miles east of Erzeroum for the purpose of barring the advance of the Russian left wing from Toprak Kaleh. Ishmael Hokki, commandant at Erzeroum, has taken a position near Kizil Kilissa, between Bardez and the Souglanu pass, to meet the Russian center and right, advancing via Souglanu and Alta.

THE GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Magnificent Celebration in Rome—The Pilgrims Received—The Day Elsewhere.

ROME, June 3.—The pope to-day at the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his elevation to the episcopate received about five thousand pilgrims, mostly Italians.

LONDON, June 4.—A dispatch from Rome to the Times says after the reception of the Italian pilgrims yesterday, the pope, who was somewhat indisposed, retired and would see no one else. At the ceremony at the San Pietro in Vinculi, there were present one hundred and ninety bishops, and representatives of France, Portugal, Belgium, Bavaria and Brazil.

MONTGOMERY, June 3.—The Catholics celebrated the pope's golden jubilee here to-day, and there were many present from different parts of the state. There was a procession through the principal streets, and fifty guns were fired. General Alpheus Baker delivered an oration on the life and character of the pope.

BALTIMORE, June 3.—The fiftieth anniversary of the episcopal consecration of the pope was observed with impressive ceremonies and solemnity in the Catholic churches of this city, and throughout the archdiocese to-day by hourly masses, commencing at 5 a.m and continuing until 10 o'clock. The churches were crowded, and holy communion administered to an unprecedented number.

NASHVILLE, June 3.—Special services were held in the Catholic churches in Nashville and Edgefield to-day, commemorative of the pope's jubilee.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Dispatches from all quarters report devotional exercises in the celebration of Corpus Christi and the pope's golden anniversary. At St. Louis seventy or eighty societies, gaily dressed in handsome uniforms and regalia, with forty bands, were in the line of procession. At frequent intervals in the column were large and finely embellished wagons filled with elegantly dressed boys and girls. There were also numerous carriages filled with priests and officials of various grades. It is estimated that 20,000 persons were in the line, including children. The streets along the line of march were densely thronged with spectators, and many of the houses were handsomely decorated with American flags, the pope's colors, portraits of the pope and floral designs.

MONTREAL, June 4.—There was the largest procession ever seen in Montreal yesterday to commemorate Corpus Christi, the festival of the fiftieth anniversary of the pope, and the arrival of the delegate apostalic. The line of march was decorated with banners, evergreens, young trees and arches. Carpets were laid between the street car tracks on St. Lawrence and Main streets, and saw dust was sprinkled on the sides for worshipers of the host to kneel upon. Eighteen thousand persons were in the procession. The line of march was crowded with spectators. Eleven bands accompanied the procession, and all passed under fifteen arches. The cathedral towers, the palace, and many public buildings and hundreds of residences were illuminated last evening. To-day the delegate holds a levee, and there will be a grand torch-light procession this evening.

THE GALENA CIGAR HOLDER.

Dining with the Duke and Wining With the Prince—His Heart's Content of Fancy Pups, Horse Talk and Cheap Living—The English Feasting their Eyes on the Man Who Never Refused a Gift.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Cable specials report that General Grant was entertained at a banquet last evening by the Duke of Wellington at the Apsly house. The dinner was served in the famous Waterloo chamber. Among the guests were Count and Countess Gleichin, Lord and Lady Abercrombie, Lord and Lady Churchill, Marquises Tweeddale Sligo and Ailsbury, Earl Rodden; Viscount Torrington, Lords George Padget, Calthorpe, Haughton, Strathnain, Countess of Hardwick, Countess of Bradford and Lady Wellesley.

A reception followed, at which the Duke and Duchess of Cleveland, Duke and Duchess of Sutherland and Duke and Duchess of Manchester were present.

The Prince of Wales gave a private audince to the ex-president yesterday and at the Marlborough house subsequently introduced him to his household in the most friendly manner, and sat with him quite a long time in ordinary pleasant conversation.

The queen has given orders to the lord chamberlain to waive the usual presentation ceremonies out of regard to the nation's guest and extend to the general and Mrs. Grant invitations to all the court entertainments. This is almost unprecedented. Grant will remain in London until the 28th and then leave for Ireland.

Lathrop Motley's Burial.

LONDON, June 3.—The Observer states that John Lathrop Motley will be buried at Kensal Green at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning. Dean Stanley preached the funeral sermon at West Minister Abbey to-day.

The American Corvette Ranger arrived at Malta on Saturday and leaves Thursday for Penang.

Grant heard Dean Stanley at Westminister. After alluding to Motley's death, Stanley said: General Grant has just laid down the sceptre of American commonwealth after having by military power still more by geneorus treatment of his comrades in victory and enemies in defeat, restored unity to a great and divided people. England welcomes him as a sign of the pledge that the two nations of the Anglo Saxon race are still one in heart and spirit.

LONDON, June 4.—The remains of the late John Lathrop Motley were interred in the grave beside that of his wife, who was buried in Kensal Green cemetery in 1875. Dean Stanley read the burial service. In attendance at the obsequies included Mr. and Mrs. Algernon Sheridan, and Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt and Lady Vernon Harcourt. These two ladies are daughters of the deceased. Mr. and Mrs. R. B Sheridan, the Duke of Argyle. Mr. John Bright, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sturgis, Lord Houghton, Mr. Tom Hughes, the Belgian minister, the Netherlands minister, Mr. Hoppin, secretary to the American legation, and U. S. Consul General Badeau, were also present.

NOTE—A later report may state where Grant and Pierrepont were feeding.

Forest Fires.

DETROIT, MICH., June 4.—A telegram received from Oscoda reports heavy fires raging in the woods south and west of Au Sable and along the north shore towards Greenbush. Business is reported suspended at Au Sable, and the entire population of the village is out fighting the fire.

THE SUNKEN STEAMER.

The Escape From the San Francisco—Tossed by the Surf—Gallant Conduct of the Captain.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Captain Waddell and Purser Jerome, of the City of San Francisco, Moses, first sargeant, of Boston, and Kingsland Sutton, of New York, passenger, arrived by train to-day from Van Diego.

The evening papers publish an interview giving further particulars of the disaster. The captain and purser are unwilling to make statements until the purser has submitted his report to the agents of the company. The officers avoid giving theories concerning the rock on which the ship struck. The passengers say deep water is all around it. The Mexican gunboat officers say they knew nothing of it before the shock. When the ship struck it was about thirty seconds duration. In a few minutes after striking, boats were cleared away without confusion, and the passengers were seated in them ready for lowering. Full steam was put on. The ship grounding about four miles from shore, the boats were instantly lowered and pulled for the beach. On landing, out of nine boats, only one escaped upsetting. The surf was combing twelve or thirteen feet high, and when it struck the boats it came with such force that the occupants were hurled ten or fifteen feet. Babies were thrown from the arms of their mothers. Even garments and jewelry was wrenched from them by the waves. When the first boat touched the shore those in it threw out ropes and ranged themselves in line to help the next comers, and this system of rendering assistance was followed until every soul was safe on land. One baby was rescued just before life was extinct, and it took some time to restore vitality. One of the ladies was caught under a boat and held there for some time, but as the next swell of the sea raised the craft she managed to escape. There was no time for delicate handling, the men knowing that the safety of the lives depended upon prompt and vigorous action handled the children as if they were so many bags of sand. In attempting to launch a boat to return to the wreck, an assistant engineer had a leg broken. Captain Waddell was last to leave the ship. At 5 o'clock in the evening only about fifteen feet of the vessel remained above water, the waves washing over her and knocking her to pieces. He, with thirty-five others, came ashore on a life raft, which went over the surf without capsizing. Captain Waddell reports that the cargo of the Acapulco, from New York May 1st, was not on the City of San Francisco, except one package of fast freight. A court of enquiry to take testimony on the loss of the steamer will be held next week.

A DOWNWARD PLUNGE.

A Wild Scene on the Lehigh Valley Road—A Baby's Escape.

SCRANTON, PA., June 3.—The Republican has the following particulars of the wrecking of a train on the Lehigh Valley railroad. The first intimation the engineer had of the accident was the violent rocking of the train, and a few minutes later the first of the passenger cars mounted the forward truck, on which it rested and was precipitated down the canal embankment, a distance of 15 feet, together with three other coaches, all laden with passengers. The coupling broke, leaving the engine and one baggage car in safety on the track. The scene was a painful one and baffles description. A wail of anguish rent the air as the passengers dragged themselves from the debris of the wreck. The four cars were smashed to pieces, and many passengers were pinned down in the most excruciating positions. Mrs. Harver, of Scranton, and Mrs. Hickey, of Tonawanda, were killed, and seventeen others severely injured, four of them fatally. Most of the injured are said to belong to Tonawanda and its vicinity. A miraculous escape is recorded in the case of Mrs. Cool, of West Pittston, who, together with her three children, including a baby six months old, were among the passengers and passed through the accident with only a few scratches. The scene of the accident with only a few scratches. The scene of the accident is midway between Laceyville and Wiatsung. The work of caring for the wounded was a trying and painful one, owing to the distance they had to be removed. Assistance was rendered as promptly as possible, and everything was done that could be accomplished to assuage the pain of the sufferers.

THE ELLENTON JURY.

The Race Issue in the Jury Box.

CHARLESTON, June 4.—Judge Waite last night summoned the jury in the Ellenton case in the court, and found on interrogating them that they could only agree upon a verdict in the case of one of the eleven persons charged with conspiracy. This was Abner Watkinson, a man over sixty years old, who was acquitted. The judge then discharged the jury, and the ten remaining persons were released upon giving bond for their appearance at the next term of the court. The counsel thinks it unlikely that these cases will ever again be tried. It is now known that the jury stood six to six on the question of a general acquittal, six whites for acquittal and six black against it. The black jurymen, however, were willing to agree upon a verdict convicting two of the accused and acquitting all the rest, but to this the six whites would not consent.

A TORNADO SWEEP.

Destruction by Elements in Mount Carmel, Illinois—Twelve Killed and Fifty Wounded.

CINCINNATI, June 4.—A special from Mount Carmel says that a storm struck this city to-day. Sixteen men lost their lives and half a million dollars worth of property was destroyed. A large number was wounded, several of whom will undoubtedly die. The bodies of four of the killed were burned. At least twenty-five are still missing. Later information says four more bodies have been found. Two of the wounded have since died. The ruins of the buildings are burning, threatening a total destruction of the town.

THE CUSTOM-HOUSE COMMISSION.

Conferring with the New York Merchants.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The custom-house commission had a consultation with the members of the chamber of commerce to-day. Among the more important suggestions was the abolition of the naval office, upon the Utopian hypothesis that honest subordinates would be a sufficient check on the collector. Mr. Eaton read a long document expressing the views of the members of the chamber of commerce and the merchants on the remedies required.

WASHINGTON.

A COUPLE OF DISCONSOLATE POSTMASTERS IN LOUISIANA.

Who Have Commissions, but Cannot Find the Offices.

Characteristic Developments Pending in the North Carolina Marshal's Office.

Mr. Hayes is now Reported as Being Opposed to Democrats Holding Office in the South.

TWO APPEALING NIGGERS.

They Want to be Installed into Office—A Tangled Case for Mr. Key to Deal With.

WASHINGTON, June 4.

The post-office department has sent a special agent to Louisiana to take action regarding two novel cases, in both of which the persons appointed to be postmasters report they are unable to obtain possession of their offices. It appears that a colored man named Samuel Chapman was commissioned last January as postmaster of Clinton, an office in East Feliciana parish, worth about $900 a year. Under date of New Orleans May 18, he wrote to Postmaster General Key, stating that on account of the unsettled condition of affairs in the parish he made no attempt to occupy the office until May 15, and that in the act of taking possession he was confronted by Charles McVeigh, a democratic judge, and J B Simms, a member of the legislature, who told him that so far as they were concerned they were willing he should take the post-office, as he was born and raised among them; but he had made himself very obnoxious to the white people of the parish by upholding Packard's thieving government before the senate comitee.

Chapman's account continues: "They said that so far as they were able they would protect me, but added, 'there is no law that will protect you from a mob in case you attempt to take the office.'" He therefore asks the postmaster general what course he shall pursue in the premises.

The other case is that of a colored man named Dualo, who was appointed postmaster at St. Francisville, West Feliciana parish, last December, and who reports not only that he is afraid of his life if he attempts to take his office, but also that he has not received his commission, although the department has at different times sent three to him addressed at St. Francisville po toffice. All three have been returned by the postmaster, whom he is to supplant, marked "not called for." In both these cases, representations are made to the department, by citizens whose good standing is endorsed by congressman Ellis, to the effect that the new appointees are by reason of illiteracy, etc., unfit for the positions. The department will give a thorough investigation and due weight to all such charges, but not while its authority is set at defiance and possession is forcibly refused to the holders of its commission. The special agent is therefore directed first to install the new appointees in their offices and afterwards report whether they should be removed; but if the communities prevent a peaceable change in the tenure of the offices, they will be temporarily abolished.

AROUND THE WHITE HOUSE.

The North Carolina Marshal True to the Party—Hayes Rewards another Supervisor—The Butler-MacVeagh Letters—Garfield's Denial—Pardon of a Counterfeiter.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Hayes has pardoned Ernestine Bastendav, recently convicted in the United States court for passing counterfeit half dollars.

It appears that the new consul to Fenchal, gazetted as James E. Anderson, of Ohio, and who declined the office because he could do better at home, was supervisor of election in East Felicina parish during the late presidential election. It is intimated that he has some ugly memoranda—more ugly than the Wharton-Maddox-Wells-West affair.

It was certainly the intention of the executive on Saturday to appoint no democrats to office in the south, and to change at his leisure all foreign representatives. General George A. Sheridan, of Louisiana, has an office under the postoffice department.

A M. Gibson, correspondent of the New York Sun, alluding to the letter which General Garfield pronounces a forgery, says: The letter written to General Garfield by the president was shone by him to a score of persons within a few hours after he received it, and among these favored with its perusal were three reputable correspondents.

Josh Franks, deputy United States marshal, from Macon county, N. C., who was arrested in this city Sunday night on a charge of defrauding the United States government, had a hearing to-day, and was committed to jail in default of $5,000 bail. He says he wishes his trial in Washington, as he was arrested on charges made by Marshall R. M. Douglas because he would not comply with his demands in making false vouchers. Marshal Douglass, Mr. Frank asserts, was to have one fourth of all the amounts raised in that way. Douglass is the son-in-law of United States District Judge Dick, before whom he would have to be tried. He says that he will make a clear breast of everything at the proper time.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Detective Hester, of the department of justice represents the discovery of extensive frauds in the office of Marshal Douglass, of North Carolina. Before leaving North Carolina Hester arrested the chief clerk and chief accountant of the marshall's office. It is stated that frauds have been going on for several years.

Deputy Franks was arrested here last night. He claims he came here to expose the frauds. Two alleged property holders from North Carolina offered bail to Franks, but the commissioner refused to receive their bond.

The chief special agent of the post office department detected 62 persons in violating the postal laws during the past month, mostly post office officials, but in some instances of employees of firms who robbed letters after proper delivery.

The state department has official information that the principality of Roumania Turkey has made a treaty with Russia and placed itself under Russian protection. The state department also has advices through the Turkish minister, that the Ottoman empire, notwithstanding the revolt of Roumania, will treat the Roumanians and the Roumanian shipping within its control, as loyal subjects.

Evarts has returned and Key arrives to-morrow morning.

Col. White has resigned the collectorship at the port of Richmond, Va.

The Butler-McVeigh correspondence has given the Louisiana marshalship a scandalous interest. The Star says that Jack Wharton, an applicant for the Louisiana marshalship, is in the city. The president is willing to give Wharton the place when Pitkin, the present incumbent, resigns, and he has requested the latter's resignation. Pitkin, however, refuses to resign, and says that if his office is wanted for somebody else, the president must remove him.

It is held that that the custom house investigations and directions by the executive to collectors, suggested by the commissioners, who have no legal existence, is more or less an important interference with the legal rights and duties of collectors. The president may nominate or suspend collectors, but details of the operations are clearly defined by acts of congress, and are properly, it is claimed, beyond presidential interference.

Come to Grief.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Sylvester F. Wilson, traveling agent for Geo. Francis Train, is held in ten thousand dollars bail for having in his possession a forged pass on the Pennsylvania Central railroad.

Boarded by the Spaniards.

KEY WEST, June 4.—The American whaling schooner, Ellen Rizpah, of Provincetown, Mass., arrived. While taking oil on the Keys south of Cuba, the schooner was bombarded by a Spanish cruiser. Her papers were demanded under a penalty of punishment. Capt. Dunham produced his papers, but they were considered insufficient, and he was detained four days in close confinement.

Slandering Your Neighbors.

The chief claim for support and patronage by some of the manufacturers of Baking Powder in this country, seems to be based on the idea of always vilifying and traducing the character and quality of the goods of other manufacturers. "Our goods, or none" is their motto. The manufcaturers of DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER set up no such arbitrary claim: but but they do claim to produce an absolutely pure, wholesome, and in every way, perfect Baking Powder. Beside which, it is strictly full weight.

The Atlanta Daily Constitution

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 5, 1877.

THE CAPITAL QUESTION AGAIN.

We had hoped, for the sake of the convention, that there could be no occasion for us to refer to the location of the capital until after the election on the 12th instant. Certainly we see no reason for the discussion of such a question, when it is sure to make more votes against a convention than for one. We are expected by some papers to remain silent while they discuss this question, simply because we live in Atlanta; and if we get them cornered in the discussion, we are politely told that our position on the convention question is not understood. We want a convention for the purpose of remodeling the present constitution, and whenever the advocates of a convention discuss a side issue, then they do more harm to the cause than an open and avowed enemy could. The Macon Telegraph and Messenger has changed front on the capital question, and proposes now to flank us. We give the latest from this paper on the subject:

> While fully of the opinion that justice to the people of Milledgeville, self respect, and the true interests of the state demand the return thither of the seat of government, yet it is by no means necessary or even advisable that the proposed constitutional convention should take any decisive action in the premises.
> Indeed, if there is the least danger that the call of a convention would be placed in jeopardy by the removal question, by all means let it remain in abeyance. But that body, if convened, can at least order that the sense of the people shall be taken at the ballot box upon the permanent location of their capital, and the result, without any future reference or legislation, be made final.
> To this no one, not even the most ardent Atlanta resident, can possibly object, as the removal question will always be a source of contention and irritation until definitely disposed of. Let the convention, then, if it meets, resolve to consider the location of the capital as not coming directly under its purview, but refer the matter back to the arbitrament of the people directly.

It is all very well to try and repair the damage already done by the discussion of this subject, but is there a convention man in the state who will not admit that so far as the convention is concerned it would have been better that this article had appeared after the 12th of June? Atlanta has some influence in the state. She has many friends in a portion of the state that even in the darkest days of radicalism was strongly democratic. We do not fear this question, but one thing can be relied on: We do not propose to let our enemies make up the issue when we try the case.

THE democratic state convention of Ohio is to be held on the twenty-fifth of next month. The republicans are, if not disaffected, apathetic, while the democrats are buoyant and sanguine. It is as good as admitted that the chances of a radical victory are painfully small.

FIVE daily papers, eighteen weeklies and one monthly suspended publication last month—coming down to hard pan.

THIERS TO THE FRONT.

The choice of M. Thiers as the leader of French republicanism is an auspicious event. Gambetta openly advocates his election as president of the republic, and the entire Left turns to the veteran statesman in this crisis. Moderate men who would not work with Gambetta will support Thiers. He has accepted the leadership of the opposition, and the next canvass will be conducted under his name. If the republicans had stood by M. Thiers, the life of the republic would not now be endangered by the Broglie-Fourton combination.

He is in his eighty-first year, but is hale and hearty, his walk, carriage, dress and conversation not being those of an old man. His faith that he will live to celebrate his hundreth birthday is unimpaired. "He has never known," says a correspondent of the New Orleans Times, "what a headache is—so he says—and has no infirmity but a nervous twitch of the eyelids. This health he ascribes to his excellent and unabused digestion. "When a man" says the octogenarish ex president, "has not good digestive powers he has no business in the world." His wonderful memory and charming conversation make him the delight of his little circle of friends and visitors. "Old age," he says, "must take an interest in everything and be itself disinterested. If youth is a romance, old age is a history." Prince Orloff and Lord Lyons, the Russian and British embassadors at Paris, are among his most intimate acquaintances. His literary and artistic treasures, which the communists scattered so furiously, have been restored in all their pristine glory; notably his Florentine bronzes and Italian paintings. In the matter of books he lacks that devotion to cream paper, Russia leather binding, and big margins which characterize so many lovers of the library. Books he regards as tools wherewith to work, and he annotates copiously. Finally, he is one of the best of Catholics. "I often invoke God," he says: "I am happy to believe in His existence, which lunatics and ignoramuses deny, but in which educated men find their consolation and hope."

It was Louis Adolphe Thiers who escaped from beleaguered Paris in a balloon to seek assistance for his unhappy country. Through his efforts peace was obtained, the German army removed, and new life infused into all the wonderful resources of the country. He had served under Bourbon, Orleanist and Bonaparte, and late in life he came slowly into republicanism as the best practicable thing for France. His administration was a marvel of success, and now when republican institutions are imperilled he is unanimously, as far as appears from the reports that have come to hand, placed at the helm again. If the republic can be saved from the schemes of reactionists, it will be under his leadership, for he is prudent, able and popular.

THE PREVAILING DROUGHT.

The country is thirsty—its soil, we mean. May was a droughty month. California and Massachusetts alike complain, and so do Ohio and Georgia. In Columbus, no rain has fallen for thirty days. The rest of the state has not been favored with much, if any, more rain. This is unpleasant, but not disastrous. Nor is it phenomenal, or even unusual. The Macon Telegraph shows by figures that, with one exception, May has been a dry month since 1872, back of which year no figures are at hand. The average monthly rainfall in the state is 3.83 inches; but in the past four Mays it was only 1.73. The figures of the Telegraph undoubtedly show that dry Mays are the rule in this climate.

But a dry May does not mean poor crops—the reverse has become in fact an accepted maxim throughout the state. It drives the tap roots deep into the ground, and prevents an undue growth of stalk. It prevents the development of rust and the growth of unnecessary grass and weeds. Unless the clouds conclude to fight it out on the dry line all this month there need, therefore, be no apprehensions. Oats and kitchen gardens would suffer. They are suffering now for that matter; but it is unreasonable to expect a season nicely adapted to all crops. It is certainly a month too early to predict with any degree of certainty a disastrous or even a damaging drouth.

THE public debt statement shows a reduction during May of nearly seven millions; but this is more apparent than real. At least two millions are due the navy and other branches of the public service, but owing to the appropriations running out these obligations could not be paid. In consequence of this the months of May and June will be credited with a larger reduction in the public debt than would otherwise be given to those months. As this deficiency will have to be made good by congress, the increased reduction in the debt on this account will operate against the reduction exhibit of the coming fiscal year.

PUTNAM county will be well-represented in the convention if one is called. Colonel Thomas G. Lawson and Dr. R. B. Nisbet have been nominated as candidates. Colonel Lawson is a profound constitutional lawyer, and one of the most prominent men in middle Georgia, while Dr. Nisbet is an accomplished physician and a gentleman of rare literary attainments. He is a son of the late Judge Eugenius A. Nisbet, of Macon.

IN lamenting the lease of the Memphis and Charleston road to the East Tennessee company, the Avalanche says "the mistake and crime against Memphis and Charleston was in the original construction of the road. It ought to have been built to Chattanooga on the north bank of the river—or the road should have run from Decatur, Ala., to Atlanta."

CAPT. WADDELL, who commanded the City of San Francisco when she was wrecked, and whose heroism on that occasion is everywhere commended, commanded the Confederate man-of-war Shenandoah during the war. He is a native of North Carolina.

AN IMPORTANT ERROR.

Appended to the announcement of candidates for the constitutional convention printed in the Macon Telegraph, we find the following note which is apparently intended for the information of voters, but which is really calculated to mislead them upon a matter of some importance:

> Voters in all the districts will vote for the full senatorial ticket nominated in their district, and not for those only who happen to reside in their county. A ticket without the endorsement of "Convention" or "No Convention" counts by law as in favor of a convention.

There is nothing in the act providing for the submission of the convention question to the people which justifies such an interpretation by our friends of the Telegraph. It is provided—we quote from the act—"that at the election of delegates provided for by this act, the voters may have written or printed on their ballots the word 'convention,' or 'no convention;' and if a majority of those voting on the question of holding or not holding a convention, the governor shall by proclamation or decree, order the delegates so elected to assemble according to the provisions of this act; and if a majority of those voting on the question of holding or not holding said convention shall be opposed to said convention, it shall be the duty of the governor by proclamation to so declare, and order that the delegates so elected do not assemble, and the convention shall not be held."

The foregoing is the only section which prescribes the method of voting, and it will be seen that it is left to the discretion of voters whether they place the words "convention" or "no convention" upon their tickets. A ballot neither for nor against a convention, but for delegates, will be so counted.

Moreover, it may be well, in this connection, to call the attention of our friends of the Telegraph to the fact that there was an amendment proposed to the act covering this very question, but it was voted down, so that the law leaves it discretionary with the voter to vote only for delegates if he chooses to do so. It is well enough to correct these little mistakes as we go along.

THE Augusta Chronicle announces that its columns are open to the free discussion of public questions. This is one of the many missions of a newspaper, but the Chronicle will have to go slow upon this schedule. When we print both sides of the convention controversy, we are accused by the light weights and little fellows with double-dealing.

COLONEL H. M. DRANE has been appointed acting superintendent of the Macon and Brunswick railroad until a permanent appointment can be made by the board of directors.

SUMTER county has decided to hold a county fair. It is to be hoped that all the adjoining counties will aid old Sumter to stimulate her home industries.

THERE are fears among the farmers of Gwinnett county of ravages from the grasshoppers.

THE PEOPLE AND POLITICIANS.

—An anti-convention ticket is mooted.

—Some of our capitalists are interested in South Carolina bonds.

—Col. P. W. Alexander and Judge James Jackson were groomsmen at Judge Peeples' marriage.

—Ex-Governor Smith is doing much to stir up the people in favor of a convention. He is strongly in favor of a new constitution.

—Governor Joseph E Brown will return from Arkansas soon, much improved in health, and prepared to resume his active duties as president of the state road.

—Judge Hopkins is reported to be in an improved condition and it is hoped by his many friends that he will soon be out and fully able to resume active service.

—Jesse Jackson is up to his arm-pits in hot water, and will find it hard to hold fast to his McCormick bonanza. Markham and the boys are after Jesse's scalp like a pack of Comanches.

—Judge Erskine, of the United States court, was an attendant at the funeral of the late Judge Peeples. Between the two jurists there always existed a most cordial feeling of respect.

—J. Erzeroum Bryant is out in a circular letter to the republicans of Georgia, denunciatory of John L. Conley, and loudly in opposition to a constitutional convention.

—Gen. Wm. McRae, of the State road, it is rumored, will be offered the general superintendency of the Cincinnati Southern railway, in addition to his present duties. There is no better railroad man in the south, and his friends would be pleased to see him thus honored.

—Gen. Toombs says that Fulton county must vote for a new constitution. If the leaven works as it promises the general may yet find himself better pleased with the temper of Fulton's democracy than he has been in some of the days of the past.

"Lookie, heah, boss, you se nebber libed down on de salt water, I reckin'?" said Old Si.

"Vas ish das? I vas got me bit two von of mine fingers off, aind id?"

"Dat's what I'se talkin' 'bout, 'kase I wuz jess gwine ter 'splane ter yer dat er turkle are er moughty kurus plant."

"Vell, I seen dot, aind id? Vur dot vas un bad grip dot he vas had mit him caaws oud!"

"Boss, I'se gwine ter say to yer dat de leas' you foo s'round wid wun ob dese hyar insecks wid de Mansard rufe on 'em de happier you se gwine ter be. You kno's what de fokes sez bout dem critters?"

"Nein! v ish [illegible]?"

"Well, dey say dat when er turkle gits dem jaws of yer flesh he ain't gwine ter lef' go 'twell hit thunder! Darfo', ef you goes huntin' teef in er turkle's bed, you wants ter do hit when de burometer hab fell b'low de belt an' de clouds looks tarry in de eas'!"

"Ish dot zo?"

"Dat's so, er dar aint no tu'fle in de las' procklymashin ob President Hayes! Dat man whar tackles er turkle in clar wether mus' be tryin' ter keep outen jail fer vagrincy, but he'd done better kick'd up er row wid his muther-in-law, er 'bused de parson at er sowin' s'ciety, er trie ter sabe his pup fum de dog-ketcher. Enny ort ob row whar he's got er fa'r chanse on his mussel are better dan er fight wid er turkle whar you'se got ter pray fer er storm 'fore yer kin git er chanse ter run! Er man wid his ha'n in er turkle's mouf are like er nigger 'mong de ku-klux jess arter de war!"

The German will doubtless profit by the information.

THE beauties of scientific kicking were illustrated yesterday in a manner to suit the most fastidious. Two young ladies, dressed in the height of fashion, with flowing princess dresses, came to a dirty street crossing. One stooped over and gracefully picked up the long trail of her dress; the other paused a brief second, then the heel of her right foot was thrown dexterously back, the tail bounded up and into the waiting right hand, and the trick was done. It might be called a "slight of hand" performance.

Several addresses and numerous private offerings were made. The pope received them sitting on a portable chair, and replied to the speeches in quite a gay humor. He was afterward carried out to the promenade.

A BOOK ABOUT THE BABY.

Now if I could write such a story for you,
What a pretty one I would be!
And the prettiest things they would all be true.
But can I? Ah, you shall see.

So, the book about baby must all be new?—
No, not one word of it old?
Well, then—why, the baby's two eyes they are blue,
And the baby's one head it is gold.

And the baby has such a red bud of a mouth,
Such a beautiful bit of a nose;
And where can you find in the north or the south
Such queer little pigs as his toes?

Oh, the baby is better than blossoms or birds—
"Or than honey or orange?" Yes.
And the baby tells tales with the darlingest words,
That mean—what you never can guess!

And the baby believes he's an angel, no doubt,
And wants to go back to the sky;
And that is just what all the trouble's about,
And that is just why he will cry.

And the baby is sweet—from the light on its head
To the dimples that play in his feet,
Now, my book is all new, for who ever has said,
Before, that—the baby is sweet?

A PHYSICIANS EXPERIENCE

GARRATTSVILLE, OTSEGO CO., N. Y.,
April 20, 1876.

R. V. PIERCE M. D.:

Dear Sir—I recently treated a case of constipation of many years' standing, on which I tried almost every remedy in the materia medica that has ever been used for that, without obtaining any permanent relief. In my despair I bought a few bottles of your Pleasant Purgative Pellets and prescribed them with the happiest results. The patient is now permanently restored.

Yours fraternally,
d&w Dr. M. J. McCLELLAND.

Hon Robert Toombs

Special to the Cincinnati Commercial.

MEMPHIS, TENN, June 1—In a public speech at Hot Springs, Ark., Wednesday night, the Hon. Robert Toombs spoke in praise of President Hayes and his policy, stating that while he was still a rebel per se, and he had no apologies to make for his personal record—no change of opinion to express—he commended in the warmest manner President Hayes and his course. He had never been an admirer of the president, nor could he endorse the manner of his ascension to the high office he holds, but President Hayes is the only man he has known after forty years of political life who has more than fulfilled promises previous to election. The wisdom of his action met his heartiest approval. The crowd who called Toombs out expected a different talk, and a large number of them were disappointed at the result. Instead of an ultra howl of the old style, Toombs lifted the veil softly and expressed conservative and patriotic views.

Campbell County on the Convention.

FAIRBURN, GA., June 2d.

Editors Constitution:—An article appeared in the Newnan Herald of this date, from the trenchant pen of John T. Longino, candidate elect for the called convention. The voters of Campbell county do not sympathize with his sentiments in regard to the homestead act, and other legitimate questions arising therefrom. If we must have a convention let us not ignore this safe guard of the poor. The homestead as it now exists is bad enough, but to repeal it in toto, would be far worse. Campbell county is in favor of Longino, but opposed to a convention.

Important to Parents and Guardians

MOUNT DE CHANTAL

Academy of the Visitation,

NEAR WHEELING, WEST VIRGINIA.

PARENTS in quest of a first class school for their daughters, would do well to investigate the claims of the celebrated Academy. For thoroughness every department of female education in Mt. de Chantal ranks pre-eminently high. Great attention is given to perfect the pupils in writing and speaking French with fluency. For those sufficiently advanced, it is the language of their recreation hours. The purity of accent and correctness of pronunciation acquired in this institution have been a subject of surprise to the native Parisian. The renown for the superiority in music is so wide spread as to have made the Academy almost a national one. One feature, in particular, that should recommend Mt. de Chantal to the sensible parent, is the influence exercised to form the pupils to views and habits of economy, and to render them really practical and useful women of society in after years. Simplicity in dress is enforced by rule.

These facts, united to the exceedingly moderate rates of board and tuition ($200 per annum) will, we trust, secure to this school as large and desirable a patronage in the future as it has enjoyed in the past.

For further particulars apply for a prospectus to the Directress of Mount de Chantal Academy of the Visitation, near Wheeling, West Virginia. Refer to John H. Flynn, W. S. Thomson and General W. S. Walker.

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—"Anxious": Of course, when you say you are not an old man, we are bound to believe you. But it seems passing strange that a married woman cannot appreciate a mess of cornfield peas. If you will send your name and address we will have no trouble whatever in convincing you that the delicious molecules are all that we represent them to be.

—They say Annie Logan was in the city the other day.

—Wouldn't it be well for the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals to prepare a series of summer poultices for the backs of the street car mules in Atlanta?

—The Milner Examiner is another new venture in journalism. It is rather small at present, but the editors hope to make it larger by and by.

—The convention squabble in Spalding county grows in dimensions.

—A colored female died in Spalding county recently at the age of more than 100 years.

—Mr. John Bayne, one of the oldest citizens of Baldwin county is dead.

—All the editors who were fortunate enough to attend have outlived the attractions of the recent press convention.

—This is the season when cucumbers come in and centenarians of both sexes are taken off.

—The Savannah Recorder publishes an elaborate and interesting statement of the debt and resources of Savannah.

—Mr. Joseph Powell, an old citizen of Montgomery county, is dead.

Judge John McRae, of Montgomery county, is talked of as a candidate for the constitutional convention.

—Mrs Alfred Haywood of Savannah, is dead.

—Grubb, of the Darien Gazette, went to the press convention and danced some. When Grubb really begins to dance, he only touches the floor every ten minutes

—Thomasville wants a flour manufactory.

—The citizens of Colquitt, in Miller county, own two hundred head of hogs, and they are all loose in the streets.

—It is stated that Early county will vote against the convention.

—J. W. Calhoun will make sixty bushels of oats to the acre this season.

—Jim Epps, colored, of Lowndes county, pounced on to another colored brother with his little barlow knife recently and succeeded in putting a fee into the pockets of the coroner.

—The Thomasville Times says that Mr. John Rice, an old and experienced farmer, has shown the editor a splendid specimen of his wheat crop this year, which is entirely free from rust. Mr. Rice says he will guarantee any one against rust or Hessian fly, if they will sow between the 5th and 12th of October. He has continued to cultivate wheat for many years, and always successfully. It is to be hoped that many farmers will follow Mr. Rice's example this fall.

—The same paper has this: Two and one-half miles west of Boston, and in one hundred yards of the A. & G. R. R., are the "Sinks," a freak of nature well worth the attention of the curiosity hunter. A little northeast of Boston three branches unite which form the head waters of the Aucilla river, as it is called after it reaches Florida. This is the real Aucilla. Ten to fifteen miles northwest of Boston, two small streams rise which unite and form what is also called the Aucilla. At Moore's bridge it is a narrow, but deep and rapid stream. Still further on, it furnishes the power which moves the machinery of Eason's splendid grist mill, and a short distance below this, empties into the Sinks, where its waters pass off by a subterranean outlet, except at a very high time, when its surplus water is carried by means of a "slue" about one mile long into the Aucilla proper. When the waters are high, the Sinks appear like an irregular lake about half a mile long, but the proper time to view them is when the water is low. Then they present a gloomy and weird-like appearance. Standing on the banks you see below you a yawning chasm sixty feet deep, with a tiny rivulet running along the bottom until it reaches the main basin. It usually abounds in fish, especially bream and trout. It seems to be a conceded fact that some of these come up through the outlet which carries off the water. The water has been known to run off in two hours with a gurgling, roaring sound. From these sinks there is a regular chain of sinks to the Mickasukie, and thence to the headwaters of the Wakulla river.

A Point on which the Doctors Agree

Physicians who have tested Hostetter's Stomach Bitters concur in representing it to be an eminently safe stimulant far preferable to the ordinary liquors of commerce, not only because it is medicated, but because it is infinitely pure. Its alcoholic basis is the finest of rye, and this is tempered and rendered medicinal by the curative ingredients of botanic origin which it holds in solution. It has often been imitated, but never rivalled, and is to-day the leading tonic, diuretic and aperient of America. Malarial fevers are prevented and remedied by it, and it is a thoroughly reliable medicine in cases of dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, rheumatism, gout, nervousness, urinary and uterine affections. It improves the appetite, increases the bodily stamina, checks premature decay, and as a sustaining and comforting cordial for the aged and infirm is unequalled. june4...d&w w 1stp

TUTT'S PILLS

A distinguished physician of New York says: "It is astonishing how universally Dr. Tutt's Pills are used. In my daily rounds, I hear of them not only among the poor, but their virtues are heralded from the mansions of the wealthy and refined. Knowing the inventor from his long connection with the medical profession, I have great confidence in their merits, and of late have often prescribed them with the happiest results in cases where I desired to make a decided impression on the liver."

TUTT'S PILLS CURE TORPID LIVER.

TUTT'S PILLS IMPART APPETITE.

Dr. Tutt has been engaged in the practice of medicine thirty years, and for a long time was demonstrator of anatomy in the Medical College of Georgia, hence persons using his pills have the guarantee that they are prepared on scientific principles, and are free from all quackery.

He has succeeded in combining in them the heretofore antagonistic qualities of a STRENGTHENING, PURGATIVE, and a PURIFYING TONIC. While they remove all unhealthy accumulations, they produce no weakness.

They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation. As a safe family medicine they have no rival.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brash, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Iron Cotton Ties.

DOWN WITH MONOPOLY!

Important Special Notice.

THE AMERICAN COTTON TIE COMPANY, LIMITED, through their unequaled facilities to procure their supply in the most economical way, are enabled to offer the celebrated ARROW COTTON TIES at the ports at the price of $2 50 per bundle, less 2½ per cent. discount for cash, and the General Agents, R. W. Rayne & Co, New Orleans, are authorized to sell, through their sub-agencies in this city, either for immediate delivery or upon contracts for future delivery up August, to Factors or Country Merchants on the above named terms, in quantities, from time to time, as may be required settlement being made on delivery.

The company having a large stock now on hand and having additionally contracted for abundant supply to meet the entire demand for Cotton Ties throughout the Cotton States, the celebrated ARROW TIE will be placed upon the market generally, and sold through their agents at less than plain hoop iron is worth, it being the purpose of the Company not only to merit the continued patronage of the planting community, but to meet competition in any form in which it may arise.

HIS HONOR JUDGE HILLYER

APPOINTMENT OF HON. GEORGE HILLYER TO THE VACANT JUDGESHIP.

A Warm Contest for the Position—Sketch of the New Judge, With Interesting Facts in His History.

Yesterday morning early the friendly contest over the vacant office of judge in this circuit made itself manifest and the uncertainty of the issue rendered the sultry day much warmer to many persons than the thermometer really indicated.

The pressing necessity for a prompt and vigorous administration of the law in this circuit, as we intimated on Sunday, led the governor to decide upon immediately filling the vacancy caused by the demise of Judge Peeples. This fact he early made known, and further that he desired at once to know from the bar and business community of this city whom they desired appointed to the position.

AN ABLE TRIO

of names was presented for the governor's consideration, they being the only ones most vigorously pressed by their friends. These were Hon. George Hillyer, Judge John Collier and Judge Wm. F. Wright. Early in the day it became apparent to those who visited the governor that one of the three would be the fortunate men. Thenceforth until about 3 p. m., there was a constant stream of callers at the executive office, all of whom were courteously received and kindly listened to in their suggestions. Both Judge Collier and Judge Wright had prominent influences to back them, but the friends of Major Hillyer made a determined effort in his behalf and convinced the governor that he was the proper man for the judgeship in the present state of affairs. His known qualifications for the position, his energy and business vim, all conspired to aid the governor to this decision, and at the above hour named he issued the following:

ORDER OF APPOINTMENT.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
STATE OF GEORGIA,
ATLANTA, June 4th, 1877.

Whereas, a vacancy exists in the office of judge of the superior courts of the Atlanta judicial district, caused by the death of Hon Cincinnatus Peeples, which vacancy the public interest in said district requires shall be filled. It is Ordered, That Hon. George Hillyer, of the county of Fulton, be and he is hereby appointed judge of the superior courts of the said Atlanta judicial circuit; to hold said office until the next meeting of the general assembly of this state and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified according to the constitution and laws of this state, and that he be commissioned accordingly. ALFRED H. COLQUITT,

By the governor: Governor.
J. W. WARREN, Sec. Ex. Dept.

The announcement of the appointment was made upon the streets immediately and bulletined upon THE CONSTITUTION news-boards, and the expressions of gratification and satisfaction were almost universal among our citizens. Major Hillyer's office was thronged with his friends and the congratulations were hearty and sincere.

Judge Junius Hillyer, his father, was present, and his pleasure at the elevation of his son to this high office of honor and responsibility, was one of the happiest incidents of the occasion. Judge Hillyer himself won his title by distinguished service upon the bench of the famous western circuit when it was the home and battle-ground of the finest bar in the south. This was in the years 1841-'45.

OUR NEW JUDGE

is a gentleman of fine physique and appearance, medium height, round and full form; a finely moulded head, with evidences of strength and intellectual force prominent; a florid complexion and clear, kind eyes, giving animation to a countenance that is ever genial and prepossessing.

A BRIEF BIOGRAPHY

of this gentleman reveals to us a career of honorable usefulness and the promise of higher service to the state in his new position.

Judge George Hillyer is a son of ex-Judge Junius Hillyer, and was born in Athens, Clarke county, Georgia, on the 17th day of March, 1835, and is now forty-two years of age. He removed with his father's family to Walton county in 1847 and was there prepared for college at a grammer school, taught by Hon. Wesley W. Thomas, now of Newnan, Ga, and the present representative of Coweta county in the Georgia legislature. He was an apt and progressive student and when he entered Mercer university was known as one of the most promising young men in the institution. He graduated from Mercer in the class of 1854, in August of that year.

Six months later, in February, 1855, he was admitted to the bar of the Western circuit at Monroe, Walton county, and at once began and maintained until the breaking out of the war a successful practice of his profession.

He became a popular man among the people and in 1857 he was returned by the county as its representative in the legislature, serving honorably and acceptably during the sessions of 1857-8. His prominent characteristics as a legislator were caution, investigation of popular wants and remedies, and assiduous attention to duty. He was chosen assistant clerk of the house of representatives of the state legislature in 1859 and in 1860 was made chief clerk, in both positions serving with care, vigilance and entire acceptability.

When the civil war opened he raised a company in Walton county and in May 1861 went with it, as its captain, to the front. In this command he served with coolness, bravery and meritorious zeal until the fall of 1863, when he was called to take the auditorship of the Western and Atlantic (State) road, in which highly responsible position he did excellent and valuable service and manifested those superb qualities which have ever since strongly characterized all his labors.

At the close of the war he opened a law office in this city and has since pursued the practice of his profession here, building up a most lucrative business and having a splendid clientelle. His position at the bar has never been an equivocal one and for years he has ranked co-equal with the leaders of the profession in this city, whose bar is unequalled for ability and brilliancy by any in the state.

During the year 1870-'74 he was the state senator from this district and was a very laborious and efficient worker in the days of Georgia's redemption from the toils and wrecks of radicalism. He was a notable figure in that body during his service there.

Of late years he has been in copartnership with his brother, Hon. Henry Hillyer, one of the present representatives from this county. His present appointment as judge of this circuit is a deserved compliment to his worth and great legal ability and that he will faithfully and honorably discharge the high trust is the confident assurance which every citizen has who knows the man.

HIS FIRST LABORS.

Judge Hillyer will preside from Monday next, when the superior court of this county will reconvene. He was sworn in and commissioned yesterday afternoon, and in the meantime will arrange his private business, preparatory to the arduous duties he is about to assume. The first case on docket is that of the State vs. ex Governor Rufus B. Bullock. If the case is ready, it will give the new judge a very vigorous and laborious initiation into the duties of his office.

The action of the governor, without any reference to the distinguished abilities of the gentlemen who were contestants for the office, gives very general and complimentary satisfaction, and we are sure that the appointment will redound to the civil service under his administration.

THE UNIVERSITIES.

Appointment of the Board of Visitors to the State and Atlanta Universities.

Governor Colquitt has issued an executive order appointing a board of visitors, as required by law, to attend the examinations at the State university at Athens, beginning July 30, and at the Atlanta (colored) university, beginning June 18th, of this year.

The board is composed of the following named gentlemen, who have been notified of their appointment:

R V Forrester, Whitfield county.
J M Richardson, Carroll county.
Henry C Mitchell, Fulton county.
Henry H Jones, Bibb county.
Charles M Neel, DeKalb county.
J W Glenn, Jackson county.
George M Dews, Muscogee county.
Mark W Johnson, Fulton county.
James Dunham, Marion county.
John B Mallard, Liberty county.

This is a cultured and efficient body of gentlemen, who will carefully perform their duties.

A Card to the Public.

On Sunday last an advertisement appeared in this paper from William Crenshaw, dentist, by which the public might be led to error. In the first place, William Crenshaw did not "sever his connection" with the Georgia State Dental society, he being dropped from the role for non-payment of dues.

Our dental societies are instituted for similar purposes as those of other professions—for mutual improvement and progression. The subject of fees, great or small, is not permitted to be debated. Herewith we lay before you the Code of Ethics of the Georgia State Dental society," which is the same as that adopted by nearly every dental society in America, at least in spirit if not in verbiage, by which you can judge whether the advertiser was prevented from charging "small fees" (There is no "Fee Bill" amongst the dentists of Atlanta.) We believe, as professional men, that merit and ability are our sufficient advertisement, and as practitioners of a liberal profession, are ever willing to extend our services to the needs of humanity and adapt them to the pecuniary condition of our patients.

This card is issued principally to place our dental societies in their proper attitude before the people, for if they were permitted to judge of them from the tenor of Wm Crenshaw's advertisement, they would naturally conclude they were mere "trades unions." Wm C knows the value of his services better than any one, and has a perfect right to place his own estimate upon them, but he has no right directly or indirectly to misrepresent bodies of gentleman with whom he, by his own statement, has no connection, and whose aims he must have thoroughly misunderstood, when he had the honor of being enrolled amongst them.

CODE OF ETHICS.

ARTICLE I—THE DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION TO THEIR PATIENTS

Sec. 1. The dentist should ever be ready to respond to the wants of his patrons, and should fully recognize the obligations involved in the discharge of his duties toward them. As they are, in most cases, unable to estimate the character of his operations, his own sense of right must guarantee faithfulness in their performance. His manner should be firm, yet kind and sympathizing, so as to gain the respect and confidence of his patients, and even the simplest case committed to his care should receive that attention which is due to operations performed on living, sensitive tissue.

Sec. 2. It is not expected that the patient will possess a very extended, or a very accurate knowledge of professional matters. The dentist should make due allowance for this, patiently explaining many things that may appear quite clear to himself, thus endeavoring to educate the public mind, so that it will properly appreciate the benificent efforts of our profession. He should encourage no hope by promising success, when in the nature of the case there is uncertainty.

Sec. 3. The dentist should be temperate in all things, keeping both mind and body in the best possible health, that his patients may have the benefit of that clearness of judgment and skill, which is their right.

ARTICLE II—MAINTAINING PROFESSIONAL CHARACTER.

Sec. 1. A member of the dental profession is bound to maintain its honor, and labor earnestly to extend its sphere of usefulness. He should avoid everything in language and conduct, calculated to dishonor his profession, and should ever manifest a due respect for his brethren. The young should show special respect to their seniors; the aged, special encouragement to their juniors.

Sec. 2. The person and office arrangements of the dentist should indicate that he is a gentleman; and he should sustain a high-toned moral character.

Sec. 3. It is unprofessional to resort to public advertisements, handbills, posters, or signs, calling attention to peculiar styles of work, lowness of prices, special modes of operating; or to claim superiority over neighboring practitioners; to publish reports of cases, or certificates in public prints; to go from house to house to solicit or perform operations; to recommend or circulate nostrums; or to perform any other similar acts.

Sec. 4. When consulted by the patient of another practitioner, the dentist should guard against inquiries or hints disparaging to the family dentist, or calculated to weaken the patient's confidence in him, and if the interests of the patient will not be endangered thereby, the case should be temporarily treated, and referred back to the family dentist.

Sec. 5. When general rules shall have been adopted by members of the profession practicing in the same localities in relation to fees, it is unprofessional and dishonorable to depart from those rules, except where variation of circumstances require it. And it is ever to be regarded as unprofessional to warrant operations or work, as an inducement to patronage.

ARTICLE III—THE RELATIVE DUTIES OF DENTISTS AND PHYSICIANS.

Dental surgery is a specialty in medical science. Physicians and dentists should both bear this in mind. The dentist is professionally limited to diseases of the dental organs and the mouth. With these he should be more familiar than the general practitioner is expected to be, and while he recognizes the superiority of the physician in regard to the diseases of the general system, the latter is under equal obligations to respect his higher attainments in his specialty. When this principle governs, there can be no conflict or even diversity of professional interests.

ARTICLE IV.—THE MUTUAL DUTIES OF THE PROFESSION AND THE PUBLIC.

Dentists are frequent witnesses, and at the same time the best judges of the impositions perpetrated by quacks; and it is their duty to enlighten and warn the public in regard to them. For this and the many other benefits conferred by the competent and honorable dentist, the profession is entitled to the confidence and respect of the public, who should always discriminate in favor of the true man of science and integrity, against the empiric and impostor. The public has no right to tax the time and talents of the profession to examinations, prescriptions, or in any way, without proper remuneration.

THE CONVICT GARB.

JUDGE CLARK'S SIDE OF THE SALLIE CONVICTION.

He Thinks that Facts Rudely Brush Away the Enchantments of Poetry—The Duty of Protecting Society.

There was nothing new in the case of Sallie, the girl convict, on yesterday. She is still in the benevolent home, under the ministration of friends, and we trust that the publication of her story having served the purposes for which it was made, we may hear little more of it.

The scheme of establishing an asylum for cases of this sort is rapidly pressing forward. Promises of subscription are received daily. A letter was received yesterday from a gentlemen who after proffering to subscribe $2.90 per month for one year, suggests that the institution when established be named.

"THE SHELTERING ARMS"

The subscription papers will be ready to-day, and those who feel disposed to aid in this work may call at the CONSTITUTION office and affix their signatures. An organization will be affected some time during the present week.

JUDGE CLARK'S CARD

We publish below a card from Judge Clark touching the manner of the girl's conviction and collateral questions. The card is a sensible and practical one, and will greatly aid in the object towards which we are writing. He touches the core of the subject when he says that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." The establishment of an asylum for vagrant children will work "many ounces of prevention." We are glad to have Judge Clark's encouragement in the enterprise. His allusions to the "gush of fancy" on the part of the reporter are all right. A reporter who could see a white girl—a mere child—half-naked and encased in dirt, sweltering in the midst of a gang of negro thieves and convicts, under a broiling sun, and not 'gush,' must be a very empty young man! Stoicism under such circumstances is little more than brutality.

We invite careful attention to Judge Clarke's card.

Communication from Judge R. H. Clarke.

Editors Constitution: When the first publication was made in regard to the female convict, Sally ——, it was my impulse to remain silent, lest by speaking I should be an obstacle to her success, in beginning her new course in life. Then, upon reflection, I saw that the cause of truth and justice required I should make such explanation as would relieve me from the attitude in which I had been placed, of consigning an innocent young girl of fourteen to the public works for the offense of "having no home." I do not suppose it was the intention of your reporter to create such an impression, but such is the only reasonable inference from the tenor of his first publications. Accordingly, I had written for your paper an article on the subject which should have appeared in the issue of Sunday, 31 instant, but I postponed it on account of the ceremonies consequent upon the death of Judge Peeples. In that issue such vindication of myself is made by your reporter as makes it proper I should change the article I had written in some material matters, particularly in that portion which goes somewhat fully into the facts, as the most of them are given in that issue. I am glad to be relieved, even to that extent, for the reason I have before stated; but there are one or two special facts, and others collateral, the community should know, so as to make up a correct judgment in this case, and also in regard to the general administration of our penal laws.

This young woman, together with two others, was brought before the court on a charge of vagrancy, in deference to the demands of the good citizens of the particular locality where they had become unendurable. It has been, and is my rule of official conduct where a person is convicted of vagrancy on the charge of "leading an idle, immoral or profligate life—having no property to support him or her—being able to work and doing no work:" and when the idleness, immorality and profligacy are all sustained by proof; and it is further established that the vagrant is also a public nuisance, to sentence such person to the public works unconditionally for twelve months—the longest time the law will permit. In such cases, vagrant and nuisance are synonymous terms. As a consequence of this rule there are now many on the chain-gang, both male and female, and the community are relieved of the nuisances. This has given quiet and relief to our good citizens, that otherwise they would not have. This course steadily pursued, will in time rid the city of them. But learning from the evidence and otherwise that this young woman, who was the youngest of the three, had a father who was residing in the country not far distant, I made an exception to my rule in her favor, and put a fine of twenty-five dollars and cost, or the public works for twelve months as an alternative. Although the youngest of the three, the evidence of her age, taken in connection with other evidence, could not impress any one with her extreme youth and innocence. The testimony was that her mother died before the war, given by one who claimed to know her parents, and her from her very early childhood. Be this as it may, she was young, a female of the Caucasian race, and I did all in my power to save her from the chain gang. The chain gang has an awful sound, and it is awful to any one of proper sensibilities, but it does not follow that every one sentenced there without regard to sex, or other conditions, is chained. The superintendent uses his discretion, and while some are never chained, there are yet others who are put upon their word of honor. But within the limits of my judicial discretion, I tried to save her from any connection with the county chain gang, and she would have been so saved had her father or any relation or friends, or any number of the latter, thought enough of her to rescue her from that fate. It was no mercy or kindness to keep her off the gang, unless some refuge was provided for her. For without the latter, she necessarily would relapse into her usual habits and associations, which, morally and socially speaking, were at least no better than the chain gang. I know it is revolting to the feelings of every one to have a white female sentenced to the chain gang under the worst circumstances, and it is not possible for any one to have this feeling more intensely than myself, but in our present legal and political state the courts are forbidden to make any discrimination "on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude;" and also alas! for the degradation of human nature—even white human nature—yes, even white female human nature. In prosecution of my purpose to save her from the chain gang, I directed Mr. Collins, the clerk, who had had a personal acquaintance with her father, to write him the condition of his daughter at once. He did so, but soon reported after the time had elapsed for a reply, that none had come. Not despairing, I directed him to write again, which he did, but as before, without avail. If it is true she could not live with her father because of her step-mother, this did not relieve him from the responsibility of caring for his minor daughter, and if he could not do so in his family, then as best he could.

If your reporter had arraigned our punitive system as defective every one would agree with him. As it stands, what is a terrible punishment to some, is light or none to others. There ought to be a different system of punishment for children, cripples, the sick or infirm, and the young of both sexes, who may be reclaimed. But where imprisonment is necessary, our judges can sentence for misdemeanors only to the jail or chain gang. In the present depressed financial condition of the country, it is putting a burthen upon the already over-burthened taxpayers, they should be spared to sentence convicts to the jail, and for this reason public opinion is in rebellion against it. Hence nearly every one must go on the public works.

No more important subject can engage the attention of our state convention soon to assemble to form a new constitution, than to devise a system of punishments that shall meet our present and apparent future necessities.

If one is in search of objects of sympathy, he can find several in every chain gang, especially if you take the appearance of the convict, backed by his own statement. There are several such in our own chain gang—for example, the humanitarian can find there a crippled man, too badly so to work with any effect, and who has subsisted for years by begging. But what of this man? He was convicted in the city court for a plain case of stealing. Because of his condition I sent him to jail for thirty days. In a short time after he got out he was back again on a similar charge, but of greater moral turpitude. I then sent him to the public works for twelve months, simply because he would steal, and it was cheaper for the public to maintain him there than in his career of begging and stealing. There are also there children between the ages of ten and fourteen—several only ten. This is terrible, and must excite sympathy; but when you are told that these are depraved little wretches, who begin to steal at from six to eight years, and are as far advanced in sin as a man ought to be at thirty, the sympathy modifies much; and yet such is the truth. Several times to punish mothers in bad cases I have had to separate them from their young children not at the breast. Here is a case for the sympathy of the least sympathizing, but what is the judge to do? Why, discharge his duty, hard as it may be! I make it a point whenever possible to give such turn to hard cases as will avoid their heart-rending scenes, and I have succeeded to a great extent, but sometimes there is no escape from the execution of the law or the discharge of duty—hard as both may be. At the present term of the superior court, Judge Underwood sent a youth of say twenty years, and crippled in both hands to the penitentiary for twenty years. This seems a hard sentence, and a man of tender heart visiting the penitentiary would grieve over it, but when he is told he is a professional thief, beginning before he was ten years old, has been in Fulton county chain gang six times, and in this instance committed burglary in the night, he sees the justice of the sentence. Judge Hall also at this term sentenced a blind man to the penitentiary for two years. Now he is a subject to bleed a sympathetic heart, but what of him? After having been before the city court, and there let off on his own recognizance, and never tried because of his infirmity he proceeds in the basest manner to swindle a worthy lady out of some seventy-five dollars. These instances are given to guard persons against letting their sympathies go out to convicts and then rushing with them in the newspapers before learning all the points from the proper sources. In having and expressing their sympathies, they should take care not to do injustice to others, especially to officials, from policemen up to the judge, who have solemn duties to perform. I have said thus much in behalf of truth and justice only, and with a sincere regret that necessity requires the saying. Now, that the correction is made, I hope it will not deter those who have begun the work from prosecuting their effort to provide for, and reclaim the young woman, for no one is better pleased than myself, that such effort is being made, or could be better pleased, if success should bless the effort. I would have at any time recommended and urged her pardon, provided a refuge was provided, and awaited her lease. The relations of one of the young women sent, as before referred to, applied for her after serving for a time on the chain-gang and proposed to take her with them to a distant place. I urged her pardon on Gov. Smith, and the applicants were successful. Ascertaining recently that provision would be made for this young woman, I promised to sign the petition for her pardon, and accompany it with a special recommendation to the executive; but it was not presented to me. Without the assurance of such provision, I would not have signed it, because, as before said, from what I know of such cases, to simply release them is to send them back to their old haunts and habits. This would be an injury to them and to society also, unless society says let these female nuisance vagrants do as badly as they may; and as much as they may annoy and disgust the community generally and particular neighborhoods, yet this is a lesser evil than to compel them to labor for a year on the public works. If such is the public sentiment, let the only remaining one of the three sent there be unconditionally relieved as speedily as possible, without regard to her future course or fate. I cannot conclude this is the public sentiment, and if it is not I cannot see yet why some effort shall not be made to save the remaining one. She is also young, but if not young enough to be converted into an innocent girl child, by a liberal use of the poet's fancy and license, yet young enough to enjoy freedom, and reform. If any provision can be made for her I will aid with whatever influence my official position may give in obtaining her pardon. As has been published, there are two just such cases as Sally's now before the court for trial in case they shall prove unable to comply with any of the provisions of the law prescribed for their escape, they must be tried, and, if convicted, sentenced. If so sentenced, another innocent girl child may be found on the chain gang, whose only offense, in the gush and fancy of the finder, is "having no home." The old maxim is, "that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Let those whose sensibilities will not stand the administration of the law, as it relates to such, make the application. And in this way, in the future, we will all be spared the distress and mortification arising from the discovery of a white female on the chain gang. So may it be.

Important Facts Regarding Life Insurance Companies, and of Great Interest to Insurers.

One only of our States, by law, disallows immediate forfeiture of policies issued by its life insurance companies until the reserve or accumulation is exhausted. Thus, while failure to pay premiums when due on Policies in most other companies works immediate forfeiture, the MASSACHUSETTS MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, under operation of the Equitable Non-Forfeiture Law of Massachusetts, continues them in force, according to the following examples:

EXAMPLES.

Ordinary Life Policy, Age 35—One annual cash payment will continue the policy in force two years and three days for its full amount, less premiums due and unpaid.

Five Annual Cash Payments will continue the same policy in force ten years and fifty-six days for its full amount, less premiums due and unpaid.

Ten-Payment Life Policy, Age 35—One annual cash payment will continue the policy in force four years and fifty-one days for its full amounts less premiums due and unpaid.

Five Annual Cash Payments will continue the same policy in force twenty-one years and one hundred and thirty-four days for its full amount less premiums due and unpaid.

Other ages and plans in same proportion.

It is a comforting thing for a poor man to feel that after paying premiums for several years and finding himself unable unable to pay longer his policy will still be kept alive a longer time than he has already paid for, thus giving himself and family insurance at the very time they need it most. And it is no less a matter for consideration also by those who, in their ability to pay, oft times allow their policies to lapse, for they get full value received in the continuance of their insurance even after they have stopped paying premiums.

We are General Agents for this Company for its Southern Department, and ask the insuring public to consider well its equitable conditions.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
Atlanta, June 4, 1877.

On 'Change.

To-day the local board was changed in accordance with predictions made in Sunday's CONSTITUTION. Fresh shell corn was marked up from 75 to 80 cents with active demand. This is the logical result of the causes set forth in Sunday's issue, viz: the failure of the oat crop, the consequent increase in the demand, the rise of prices in Tennessee and other western markets. The demand remains active with increase in local supply. There were no further changes. Flour and bulk meats are firm at prices quoted. Sugars are firm and prices are unchanged.

The election of the N. Y. cotton exchange was held to-day with the following result; President, James F. Wenman; vice-president, D. G. Watts; treasurer, Walter T. Miller.

The Charleston News and Courier prints the following as the result of an extended inquiry concerning the crop prospects in South Carolina: In the eastern counties, the best cotton district in the state, the stand is bad, and what cotton is up is looking badly and shows no improvement in growth. In the upper counties cotton is similarly affected and wants rain seriously. The belt, in the middle counties, a week ago there was no stand of cotton on the river lands, and little cotton was up; on the uplands the stand is about the same as in sections previously mentioned. The lower counties make no better reports. The dryness of the weather has been favorable for work and has kept the cotton crop out of the grass. With everything favorable from this time out, and with a late frost, a fair crop of cotton cotton may still be made, but under no circumstances can a full crop be expected.

A Montgomery, Ala., telegram says the drought is becoming serious. No rain has fallen for several weeks, and corn and cotton are suffering.

Summer Hog-packing.

Cincinnati Price Current, May 31.

The receipts of hogs at leading western markets the past week show a continuance of a rather light movement, but the net supply is but slightly less than during the corresponding period last year. In this market the average is much heavier than the previous week, and shows an increase over the corresponding week last year. At Chicago the receipts for the week ending last evening were 59,700 against 47,200 the previous week, and 73,032 during the corresponding time last year, with shipments about 15.000 less the past week than the corresponding time last year. Since the 1st of May the Chicago weights have been 4@8 pounds lighter than last year, but there is still an increased average since March 1 compared with a year ago, as also about 10 pounds increase in Cincinnati and 5 pounds at Indianapolis. The Chicago receipts, which are looked to with so much interest because of their liberal proportion to the whole movement, may be expected to show an increase over the past two weeks, but for the month of June not to equal the number received during that month last year.

The number of hogs packed since March 1 to dates mentioned are as follows at the under-mentioned places:
